NOTE: Most browsers will automatically launch the Java webstart program to open the virtual session. However, some versions of Internet Explorer (IE) and Safari may not launch the virtual session. Moreover, some browsers may prompt you to download file or to open file with a program so please accept the download. The prompt to download and open the collaborate meeting file appears as a bar across the pagetop of IE, but in other browsers it appears at the upper right side or lower left. Try switching to another browser if nothing happens a minute after you click the JOIN link. You can only enter a session once so if you get a message saying you are already in session then close out the extra session window(s.)
